The Children's Partnership (TCP) is seeking a seasoned professional with expertise in Health Information Technology, Health IT policy, or health home/care coordination issues to manage our initiative to improve outcomes for foster youth. TCP uses a combination of research, community-based demonstrations, policy development, and advocacy to promote the best use of health IT to improve access to and the provision of quality, coordinated, child centered care. Within its health IT portfolio, TCP's Electronic Foster Care Coordination (EFCC) Initiative promotes carefully planned electronic information exchange that enables effective care coordination and engages substitute care providers and older foster youth more effectively. A central feature of this initiative is the development of community based demonstration projects in California and translating lessons learned into improved policies.

Salary: Commensurate with experience. Excellent health, retirement, and other benefits. Some travel required.

PRIMARY RESPONSIBILITIES:

- Carrying out TCP's role in local information exchange demonstration project(s).
- Managing TCP's broader statewide efforts to improve outcomes for vulnerable youth, facilitated by the use of electronic information exchange.
- Supporting & working with a learning community of local leaders involved with EFCC initiatives
- Providing strategic thinking, policy analysis, & expertise on relevant national and California developments and issues related to care coordination, health IT, and vulnerable youth populations.
- Managing relevant research and policy analysis projects.
- Conducting research at the county, state, & federal levels.
- Engaging in outreach and advocacy to translate best practices into needed policy changes.
- Serving as a community leader on issues related to care coordination, health IT, and vulnerable youth.
- Identifying & working with key civic, governmental, corporate, and other partners.
- Developing new project ideas that support EFCC and health IT program goals.
- Producing high-quality written materials, such as Issue Briefs, fact sheets, blogs, and letters.
- Serving as point person for TCP's social media activities on these issues.
- Participating in development efforts, including drafting grant proposals and reports.
- Organizing and/or representing TCP at key meetings, conferences, briefings, and other events.

QUALIFICATIONS

- Expertise in health IT, care coordination, or related policy issues.
- Ability to accurately and concisely summarize complex information for a broad range of audiences
- Excellent research, writing, & policy analysis skills!
- Strong project management skills & ability to devise and implement strategic plans
- Exceptional interpersonal & communication skills
- Experience using social media
- Proven track record working independently & on a team

EDUCATION AND EXPERIENCE

- Advanced degree
